Saint Louis University Transgender Health Collaborative: Strategic Map 2020

Promote the Health and Well-being of the Transgender Community

Advance respectful, inclusive, and patient-centered care for the transgender community

Promote research productivity related to transgender health

Train future healthcare professionals to be competent in gender-inclusive practices through clinical education

Elevate the transparency of clinical practice sites

Increase the number of peer-reviewed publications with interdisciplinary authorship

Integrate existing education materials into clinical education curricula

Support new/emerging clinical practice sites

Submit and obtain grants that represent interdisciplinary research teams Develop new clinical education materials for both discipline-specific and interdisciplinary use

Increase access to genderinclusive healthcare; address known barriers Deliver scholarly presentations at local, regional, and national conferences Support the development of clinical rotations, internships, externships, etc. in gender-inclusive healthcare

Support continuing education opportunities for healthcare professionals

Foster relationships with relevant community-based organizations